

POST-ACTIVITY REPORT

Local Project Monitoring Committee – Laoang

ACTIVITY:	Strengthening of Local Project Monitoring Committees in Region VIII
DATE:	May 28, 2026
VENUE:	Laoang, Northern Samar
PARTICIPANTS:	LPMC Members of Laoang, Northern Samar

REPORT SUMMARY

I. OBJECTIVES OF THE ACTIVITY:

The activity aims to:

1. Capacitate the LPMC members in the navigation of the new system of LPMC.
2. Encourage the LPMC into documenting all LPMC related activities into the making of the most significant change.

II. HIGHLIGHTS OF THE ACTIVITY:

Convened via Zoom on May 28, 2026, the activity was intentionally designed around two deeply interwoven objectives, each aimed at strengthening the Local Project Monitoring Committee in both its technical capacity and its reflective practice.

The first objective was to capacitate the LPMC members in navigating the new system—a comprehensive, user-centered orientation that went far beyond a simple walkthrough. The session immersed participants in the platform's core modules, demystifying its interface, streamlining workflows, and ensuring that every member, regardless of their initial digital comfort level, could confidently enter data, retrieve reports, and utilize the system's full suite of monitoring tools. The goal was not merely familiarity but genuine mastery—equipping the committee to transition seamlessly into this upgraded digital environment so that project tracking becomes more accurate, timely, and collaborative. Through guided demonstrations, real-time screen sharing, and interactive Q&A, the activity transformed what could have been a daunting technological shift into an empowering experience of shared learning.

The second objective moved from technical skill to a deeper culture of storytelling and evidence-based reflection. It sought to encourage the LPMC to diligently document all committee-related activities and to channel that rich, often fragmented, record of meetings, field visits, validations, and resolutions into the making of a "most significant change" narrative. Here, documentation was reframed not as a bureaucratic burden but as a creative and analytical act—the raw material from which the committee can piece together a compelling account of transformation. By capturing the subtle shifts, breakthrough moments, and even the challenges encountered in their monitoring work, members are able to collectively identify and articulate the single most meaningful change that their efforts have contributed to in the community. This process turns dry logs into living stories that validate impact, inspire continued commitment, and communicate the committee's value to stakeholders in a human, relatable voice. Ultimately, the activity planted the seed for a documentation discipline that feeds directly into a powerful, participatory evaluation tool, ensuring that the LPMC's legacy is not only measured in accomplished deliverables but is also felt through the authentic stories of change they helped bring about

III. OUTPUT/S OF THE ACTIVITY:

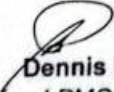

- Enhanced understanding of the PMC Functionality Indicators among LPMC members.
- Increased awareness of the roles, responsibilities, and mandates of the committee.
- Renewed commitment and active participation of members in carrying out project monitoring activities.
- Strengthened coordination and collaboration among LPMC members and stakeholders.
- Improved knowledge on the standards and requirements for maintaining a functional Local Project Monitoring Committee.

VI. Attachments (check as applicable)

- | | |
|-------------------------------------|--|
| ☒ | Photos |
| ☒ | Powerpoint/ Lecture Materials |
| ☐ | Brochures |
| ☐ | Workshop/Activity |
| ☐ | Materials Program |
| ☐ | of Activities |
| ☒ | Certificate of Attendance/ Participation/ Completion |
| ☐ | Others (Specify) _____ |

Prepared by:

EnP. Jesson T. Rivera
 LPMC Secretariat

Dennis L. Pedimonte
 LPMC Secretariat

Engr. Rochel I. Nebrida
 LPMC Secretariat

Approved by:

SALVADOR F. ACEBUCHE
 MDC-LPMC Chairperson

